

CUSTOMIZED TRAINING

KASC is committed to helping schools and districts increase student achievement. We have numerous tools and research-based workshops that support this effort. Sometimes school and district leaders contact us for assistance with specific needs. Below are some ways we have offered customized services to facilitate school improvement work.

- Working with councils on issues such as policy revisions, committee structures, budgets, etc.
- Developing district-level professional learning communities
- Facilitating learning walks (one or more) through schools, providing immediate feedback as well as suggestions for next steps
- Facilitating reaching consensus on district/school priorities/goals
- Training district/school curriculum coaches
- Providing a series of professional development over time to allow for feedback and follow-up
- Working with school staff during staff or team meetings to address specific needs
- Planning and facilitating professional development for early release days
- Serving on School Leadership Support Teams as council and/or principal mentors
- Developing and providing training to meet specific mandates from the Office of Education Accountability
- Planning and facilitating district/school retreats
